MARK REID

It has truly been a wonderful golf season. There has been an abundance of sunny, beautiful days in October and the outlook indicates many more comfortable days ahead. Heading into fall, we are planning for 2023. I get asked a lot about what our next project will be. Currently, we are trying to let our cash catch back up after a great bunker project. We also are going to accommodate a larger maintenance budget for equipment when our new fleet of John Deere mowers and tractors shows up early next year. We, like everyone else, are continually trying to adjust to and accommodate rising costs. There is much talk out there, but to us, we need to be prepared for what looks like the continuation of rising interest rates and commodity prices into next year. Therefore, this fall, when we discuss the 2023 budget, we must also discuss being proactive in reducing our debt to avoid high costs when our note renews in late 2024 at possibly a double digit interest rate. We all hope that inflation can be tamed quickly, but we will be prepared if the likelihood that it doesn't. I will update you all in the December ClubLife after the November Board meeting.

LEAF RULE

Yes, the “leaf rule” is actually a real thing. Here’s what the rules say about it

By Drew Powell | September 28, 2022

“The official golf season may be ending, but there’s still a few weeks left to enjoy casual play on the Oaks Course. And though we’re grateful to have so many healthy trees on our course, they’ll soon be dropping their leaves. It changes golf play, but it doesn’t have to stop it! Read more about the “leaf rule” in this article by Golf Digest.”

STEVE GRIESINGER,
GOLF COURSE SUPERINTENDENT

Understanding Frost Delays

Presented by the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America

As summer starts to give way to fall-like temperatures, the desire to hit the golf course intensifies. It also signals a change in golf course management activities that can affect one's game and the conditions found on the course.

In many regions of the country, golfers occasionally face frost delays in the fall, thus pushing back starting tee times. When frost is present golf course superintendents delay play until the frost has melted. This is done to prevent damage that affects the quality of the playing surface and could potentially be very expensive to repair.

Frost is basically frozen dew that has crystallized on the grass, making it hard and brittle. A grass blade is actually 90 percent water, therefore it also freezes. Because of the short mowing height (sometimes as low as 1/8 inch) and fragile nature of the turf, putting greens...
