From the General Manager

Warm weather, summer vacations, golf clinics and tournaments means that the course is busy once again—and though we've had better conditions as far as rain goes the last part of May and into June, you should expect to see course maintenance frequenting the course more while they hand water smaller areas of the grounds. You can read further about Localized Dry Spots in our course superintendent's article and how they plan to mitigate them, but I ask that club membership be patient with and courteous of workers, and they will move out of the way promptly. As we enter the beautiful month of June, the summer season is upon us, and we have planned an array of engaging activities and events for our esteemed members and guests. Our top priority is to provide a memorable and enjoyable experience for all who visit our golf course and country club. Moreover, our team of experienced golf professionals will be conducting instructional clinics and personalized coaching sessions throughout the season. These programs are designed to enhance the skills and techniques of our members, ensuring that they have the necessary tools to excel in their game. We wish all of our dads a wonderful Father's Day. We are all ready for another fantastic Summer Classic. Enjoy!

Summer safety is the topic of this month's article—even with golf being a 'low-impact' sport, it can still put you at risk for heat exhaustion or heat stroke. The average amount of time a golf round takes is 4 and 1/2 hours, and as the temperatures rise that is plenty of time to dehydrate or overheat if you are not cautious. Age, weight and the speed you move at on the course can all factor into your risk of heat exhaustion or heat stroke, but everyone can benefit from knowing the difference between the two and what to do if that happens as well as proper hydration and nutrition guidelines.

As the summer months begin to take their toll on the greens, we will be hand watering more and more to help prevent localized dry spots. We will combat LDS not only with hand watering, but with wetting agents, spiking and needle tine aerifying the greens. So please be patient if you see staff on the green watering during your round. They will move their hose out of your way quickly. Thank you!
